

Weekly Newsletter

Another week has passed and Early Years, Reception and Y6 have continued to flourish even in these challenging times. May I take this opportunity to thank all the staff for educating and supporting the children at school or online with such dedication and care.

As you are aware, much work has taken place on preparing the school in line with our comprehensive risk assessment. The one way system from the car park is working well and the pupils know exactly what they have to do at each of the temperature stations before they are allowed to enter the building.

We have been working hard to put plans in place for the other year groups to return and were hopeful that this would be able to be implemented from Monday. Unfortunately we are currently unable to open to new classes on Monday and we are in discussions with our insurance provider to address this.

This Friday's Fosse Activity this week is Houses' themed! Please make sure you send in your photos to your class teacher by end of play Monday so Y6 can create a Sway presentation for each house.

Today has been 'sporty' Friday. Early Years had a great morning on the tennis courts, Reception were practising their hockey skills with Miss Tucker and Y6 have continued their efforts with their daily mile and the improvements on their timings is already evident:

	Week 1	Week 2
Conrad	-	10.38
Iris	9.25	8.25
Eva	13.35	11.06
Marcus	10.10	8.30
Anna	14.20	12.20

The theme of the next Fosse Friday Activities will be Fathers' Day so please do let Mrs Baumhauer know as soon as possible if you have any suggestions for activities. We are currently planning how we can deliver Sports Day and Prize giving in a way that adheres to social distancing – more information will follow shortly.

Happy birthday to Noah and Jonah in Y2, and Mrs Boyce and Ms Gasiami who have all had birthday celebrations this week.

Finally, I would like to share this thoughtful poem written by Clarissa in Y5.

Home

*A light in the dark, when I'm alone,
A safe place to tuck away.
My home is my hiding place; my shell,
Where I love and live each day.*

*Home is the air that I need to breathe,
My only necessity.
It's the cold drink that I crave and need,
In a desert of worry.*

*When my saddest thoughts tear me apart,
Home is the place where I heal.
In my wild sea of troubles and conflict,
Home is the peace that I feel.*

*When friendship bonds break and I feel lost,
Being at home is the best.
In a world of anger and struggle,
Home's where comfort is strongest.*

*In black times when fear rules my body,
Home is the medal I've won.
In the middle of the darkest storm,
Clouds part, and home is my sun.*

*Home will always be my happy place.
When sadness cuts like a knife.
When I'm enveloped in weariness,
Thoughts of home bring me to life.*

Best wishes
